About the book:

This is a fictional depiction and is a collaboration of the Samaritan Text, the Bible, Egyptian Mythology, Aruba religion, The Emerald Tablets, Hermetic Teachings, and some of the former Earth's Eastern Religions.

The year is 2354 in Earth years. The place is the planet Saturn within the galaxy known as the milky way. Most of the elite humans have migrated from earth to Mars or to Saturn and are co habituating with other solar beings and artificial intelligence instances. The former Earth is now a quarantined planet and an intergalactic industrial complex and is also used as a training ground for intergalactic wrestlers.

These solar beings originally came to our galaxy seeking to share their insights of the cosmos with humans and then they embedded their DNA within the original Homo Erectus species who were Nubians. iVision Dynamics later digs deep into the cradle of civilization, on earth as we know it. To extract the DNA of the Kushite's, and the Kemet's. Because of their superior physiological and Metaphysical abilities.

Our heroes, Wrestle Fest lead by Coffee, are later enlisted to fight an onslaught of dubious protagonists. Who are led by Satan. Lucifer, the arch enemy of all the cosmos enlists the help of every villain or being who has ever been in opposition to the Most-High God.

Anyone who has opposed God, has now been enrolled in Satan's plot to take over the Cosmos. Lucifer has also deceived and engaged many of the people of God, to fight against God, in a scheme to take over time, itself.

The Wrestle Fest team losses the battle for time and is defeated by the protagonists, (RED). The protagonists are then ultimately overcome and are defeated by the Most-high god's who are (Shango and Oshun). In a prophetic battle known as, Wrestle Fest Armageddon.

Prelude:

Our heroes, the “Wrestle Fest team, are all direct descendants of the Moors of Spain. Their DNA was extracted and used to build the ultimate fighting machine, the AACU. The (AACU). Autonomous Artificial Intelligence Combat Unit, which was initially developed to combat the Nazi regime, the Arian super soldiers. Our unsuspecting heroes, “Wrestle Fest team, are about to be catapulted into a world of chaos and mayhem.

iVision Dynamics, is a corporation that’s in the business of DNA manipulation, Cryogenics, and Time Travel Tours. They were contracted to develop the AACU. But when WWII ceased the team was decommissioned. So, the team retired into their lives, as intergalactic wrestlers. iVision Dynamics corporation, is aware of the cosmically engineered powers that are inherent within the Nubian Asiatic homo erectus, develops the superior fighting units from the DNA of the original Asiatic homo erectus, who is Nubian and direct decedents of solar beings.

These solar beings, originally came to the galaxy, seeking to share their insights of the cosmos with humans and then they embedded their DNA within the original Homo Erectus, who was Nubian. iVision Dynamics later digs deep into the cradle of civilization, on earth as we know it. To extract the DNA of the “Kushite’s, and the Kemet’s. Because of their superior physiological and Metaphysical abilities.

Lucifer, with the help of RED, seeks to control time, future states of consciousness and all the cosmoses. Satan believes that time is a substantial force to be controlled. God and GUARD, knows that time is an illusion. Satan develops a plot with Dr. Eve, and the lead Professor of iVision, (Dr. Eickvonstein), to take over time. Then, they create "RED.

RED, (Reptosapien, Extraterrestrial Dynasty), is the brainchild of Lucifer, Dr. Eickvonstein and Eve. Vigilantes, the most heinous galactic criminals, and degenerates are enlisted into RED. Much like the Persian army of Xerses.

In 1941, iVision Dynamics Corporation developed the original (AACU). Autonomous Artificial iVision Dynamics Corporation was the brainchild of Professor Thomas Düsseldorf and Professor Davis LeMay. They developed an advanced autonomous weapons systems platform that incorporated advanced artificial intelligence with bio cybernetics. iVision Dynamics Corp., produced and marketed the first fully autonomous mobile combat unit in, 1942. iVision Dynamics Corporation had essentially produced the first generation, “transhuman.

In the same year, iVision Dynamics Corporation also developed the first ever Cryogenics and DNA extraction and manipulation technologies platform.

Coffee was the initial AACU prototype. Her design was purchased by the U.S. Army during WWII, to aid the allied forces in combating the Nazi regime's soldier's strategy of hiding behind hedge rows in England and in Normandy.

The Nazi soldiers would leverage the height and density of the hedge rows as coverage for protection by hiding behind them. The Nazi soldiers would essentially pick off the allied forces soldiers, like sitting ducks in a row. Coffee's high jumping functionality was developed to address the Nazis strategy of hiding behind the hedge rows.

Coffee's superhuman strength was derived from her cosmic Nubian DNA. Which was extracted from the DNA of the ancient Moors of Spain. Her ancient Nubian cosmic DNA gave Coffee the physical ability and mental acuity to formulate and perform complex attack strategies and evasive maneuvers intuitively and effectively.

Coffee was the perfect war machine. Agile and stealth with super intelligence and she was relentless on the battlefield. Coffee's supernatural mental powers and analytical skills aided her and gave her incredible critical thinking abilities.

These inherent characteristics that were necessary in solving complex battlefield challenges were a result of her DNA being developed from the strands of the DNA of her ancient cosmic Nubian ancestors. The Moors of Spain.

Coffee's supernatural mental, physical powers and analytical skills aided her and gave her incredible metaphysical and critical thinking abilities. These inherent characteristics that were necessary in solving complex battlefield challenges, were a result of her DNA being developed from the strands of the DNA of her ancient cosmic Nubian ancestors, the Moors of Spain.

Coffee's bio electrical anatomical and systems architecture design was patterned after the physiological characteristics that were extracted from the DNA of the original ancient Moors of Spain. Coffee's ability to perform Naval and aviation navigation was also derived from her ancestors, the Moors of Spain.

Who also were celestial navigators, brilliant mathematicians, scientist, doctors and artisans. And they created technology that cannot be explained by modern man. Such as, wireless electricity that was harnessed and transmitted to and from the pyramids across earth's surface.

Coffee was equipped with one other weapon. It is a robotic arm that when triggered by an opponent, would render 5 slaps to her opponent. The weapon was dubiously named the “pimp slap.

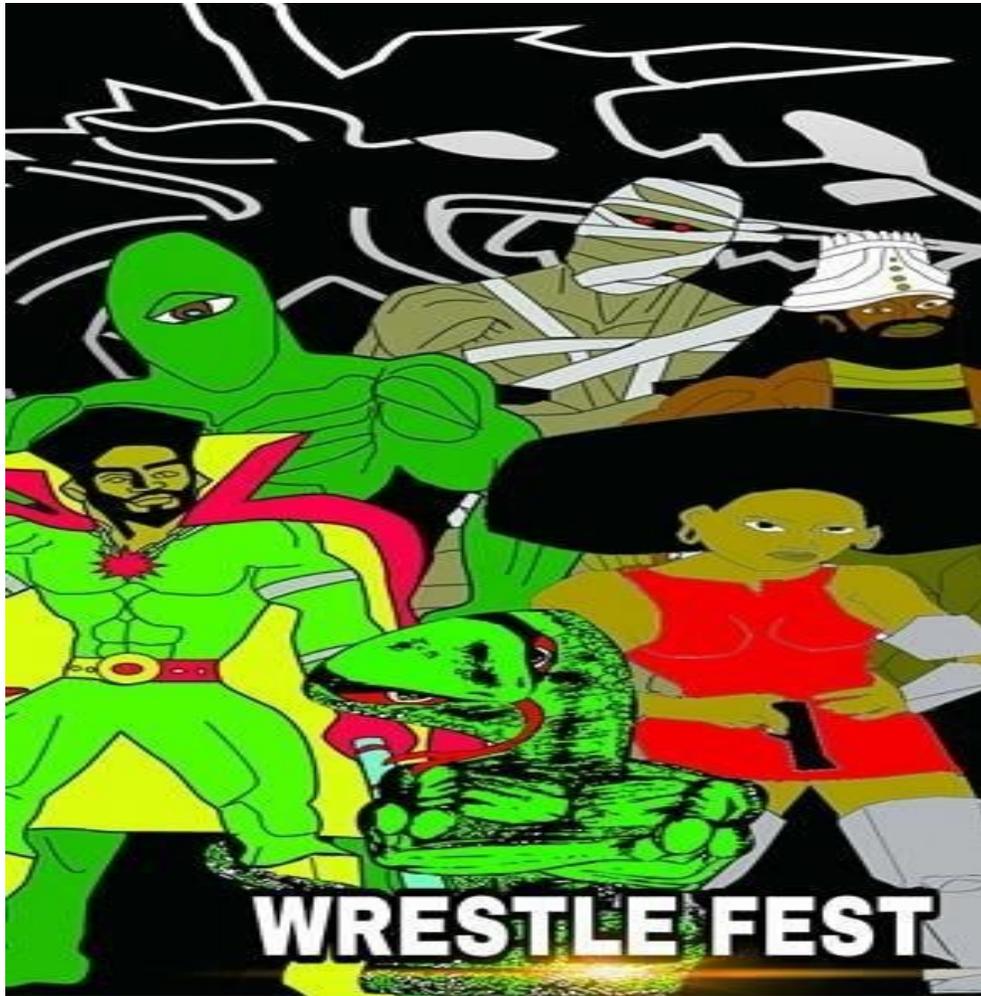

The culmination of these abilities in Coffee afforded the allied forces the opportunity to gain the upper hand over the German soldiers during WWII. Coffees contribution to the war effort is like that of most black’s contributions in previous campaign’s that the United States has waged. In that the tide of the war was always changed when blacks were allowed to serve and to contribute.

The 54th regiment of the civil war and WWI to name a few. And now the ‘Tuskegee Airmen of WWII. Coffee’s name would go down in history as one of the greatest combat units ever.

Now, having been decommissioned after the end of the war in 1945, Coffee has settled into her new role as a decorated retired military veteran and as an immortal. However, Coffees leadership and fighting skills were enlisted again and put back to work in the capacity of the team leader of the Wrestle Fest Team.

The Wrestle Fest Team is an intergalactic wrestling team, who are members of the “Intergalactic Wrestling Federation. They travel galaxy to galaxy hosting intergalactic wrestling matches.

The Wrestlefest Team - GUARD

Before the time when the earth's surfaces had split and when the earth was one land mass, the creator, the Most-High God Jehovah God sent the Anunnaki lead by Anu, to earth to mate with the women of the earth. And as a result, they created a super solar humans called, Nubians.

Anu. The Anunnaki Leader

There was one Nubian that was created from the friction and the nuclear fusion and reactions of the rock formations from the volatile movements of the earth. His name is Quake. His stomp would shake the universe and trigger galactic tsunamis. But Quake was mortal.

Quake

Ray, the mummy gangster, was hired to join the Wrestle Fest team. Ray is a descendant of the Ancient Kimmitt race. He would use his burial cloths as a weapon in the ring. Ray is also a handgun and cyber martial arts expert.

Ray

The Nubians were physically and mentally stronger than any other humans. They were endowed with supernatural metaphysical powers and abilities. Their cosmic DNA afforded the Nubians the ability to create complex mathematical equations and scientific advancements.

The ancient Nubians also used telepathic powers to communicate. At that time, humans walked and talked directly with the most-high God without the necessity to use physical appendages such as mouths. This was until Satan, a fallen angel tempted man into becoming separated and out of balance with the most-high God.

But God in his infinite love for the children of God, the Nubian sent the Anunnaki led by Anu, to assist them throughout the trials and terrors that that the Nubian, God's children would face.

God new that his children, the Nubian would be hated and despised because of their natural beauty, intelligence, physical attributes, and their innate ability to maintain their own family structure, without the interference of their homo erectus cousins, the caucus erectus. Which were led by Satan and his fallen angels called the Nephilim. The caucus erectus were under the influence of Satan, from the beginning.

Satan's jealousy of God's children was manifested in his relentless determination to persecute and to buffet the children of God. But his attempts to hurt and to destroy the children of God, only made them stronger and they stayed together. God used Satan and the caucus erectus to perfect the Nubian race.

But many of God's children, believed the lies of Satan. And many of the children God fell by the wayside, and no longer loved and worshiped God. But rather served themselves and gave themselves to murder and rape. As did their homo erectus cousins, the caucus erectus.

As a result, Gods children's the Nubian began to suffer great affliction and torment in the earth, and they were made slaves by their homo erectus cousins the caucus erectus. For God had to punish his beloved children, the Nubian. The caucus erectus allowed Satan to inhabit them. And they would often inhabit the bodies of humans to fight against the Nubians. Humans such as the slave masters, Adolph Hitler, J. Edgar Hoover, George Wallace, Mitch McConnell, and Donald Trump to name a few.

But the Nubians would later gain their freedom. And God would send several deliverers throughout the ages in the form of Angels, to guide them throughout history. Such as Moses, Jesus the Christ, Abraham Lincoln Mahatma Gandhi, Muhamad, Elisha Muhamad, Haile Selassie, The Nobel Drew Ail, Marcus Garvey, Malcolm X, Dr. Martin Luther King, Bob Marley, Raphael Warnock, Brian Stephenson, Cory Booker, Kamala Harris, Barrack Obama, and Red Fox, to name a few.

Satan had lost the battle, but he still believed that he could win the war. So, he develops a scheme to over the one thing that man values the most. And that is, time. Satan devises a plan to take over time. Now, all he needs is a time machine. And he knows just were to look for one. And that is at iVision Dynamics Corporation.

Professor Davis LeMay was the founder of iVision Dynamics. Now his offspring were at the head of the corporation. Davis LeMay VI, had gone back in time to the civil war era, and has fallen in love with a slave woman. LeMay, now refuses to return to 2354, as he has fallen in love.

Unbeknown to LeMay's wife Professor Pepper Brown who is his wife in 2354 and is also one of the bio chemists who funded the time travel tours program. Pepper Brown is furious and wants revenge against Dr. LeMay.

Professor Davis LeMay IV

Davis develops the concept for the time machine with his then faience, Pepper Brown. LeMay and Brown established the time travel tour busines in 2350. The time travel concept was funded largely by Pepper Brown, and iVision Corporation.

Now, LeMay has traveled back to 1866 and fallen in love with a slave girl who is on his grandmothers' masters slave plantation. His wife Prepper Brown travels back to 1866 and discovers her husband with the slave girl, in his arms and kissing her. Pepper Brown is furious to learn of her husband's actions.

Heartbroken and betrayed, Pepper Brown desires revenge against Davis. She is ripe for deception. The kind of deception that only Satan can render. She needs a way to get back at LeMay. The love that she had once felt for her husband Davis is gone. Now, only hate and discontent remain. She wants to destroy Davis and his work.

Satan hath tempted her to do this evil. He has put a seed of murder and revenge in Pepper's heart and in her mind. Now, Pepper She has gone insane at the vision of her husband with that hussy.

Pepper plans to go back in time to kill LeMay and the slave girl. But she knows that if she kills LeMay, it will cause a ripple in time. She knows that if she kills him before he's born it will cause a flux. To kill LeMay before he is born, would also nullify his works and inventions. Creation would never get to see the contributions that Davis has made.

The cure for Cancer. The cure for Aids. The cure of prostate cancer. A cure for Asthma. The time travel machine and so many other inventions, would never be produced if she kills him, in the past, before he is born. She needs a way to manipulate time, itself.

Professor Eve

It is Satan in his element with Eve. She is tempted. She has a soft spot that Satan can exploit. It is the spirit of vanity withing her. He uses her vanity to launch his plan to bring Dr. Eickvonstein into his plot. The plot to build the “Reptosapien Dynasty.

“Seduce your sugar daddy.: He say’s to Eve. “Make him bite the apple, and I will give you the world.” It was the same temptation that he’d used thousands of years before, on Jesus. The pride of life. Which is the same temptation that he’d used on Donald Trump.

Professor Erik Eickvonstein

Professor Eickvonstein and Brown both take the bait. And created a species called, The Reptosapien. To combat the powerful cosmic Nubians, in a plan to take over all time.

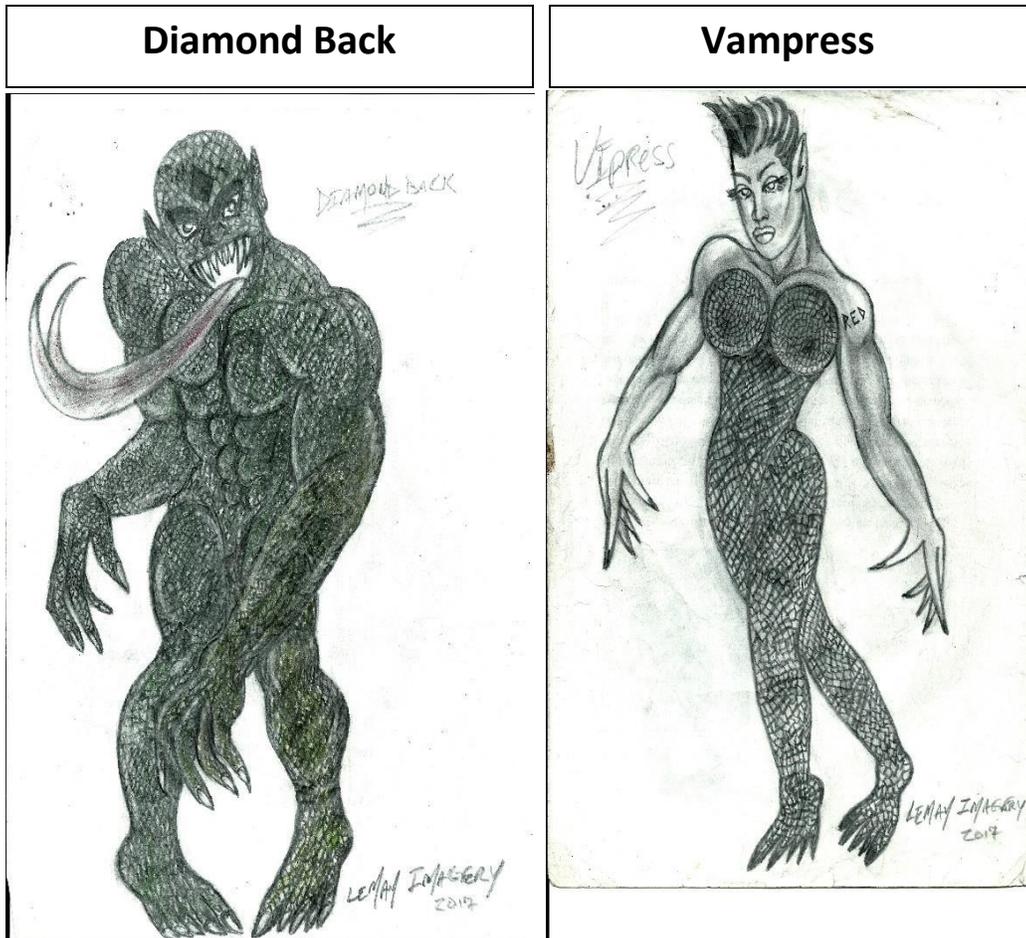

King Reptosapien Leader

“King is the leader of and is the first of the blended human reptiles. The Reptosapien are a ruthless and an evil sort. Bent on the annihilation of all that have ever allied themselves with the most-high God. They want to destroy all who love God.

Dr. Eickvonstein then combines the DNA of the Reptosapien with the extraterrestrials from many different galaxies. The extraterrestrials are nomads that have no place of their own nor do they have their own anatomy. They are considered pseudo humans, as well. But Dr. Eickvonstein loves his creations. He is their god.

RED, (Reptosapien Extraterrestrial Dynasty) is formed by Dr. Eickvonstein and King to give the Reptosapien as sense of belonging and purpose. The Reptosapien have no beginning and culture to reference. Like the caucus erectus. They're nomadic space travelers with no culture, home, or roots.

Meanwhile, Lucifer sees an opportunity. He slivers into Professor Eve's and Brown's minds and convinces them to create a formula that will turn humans into reptiles. Satan believes the powers that reptiles possess, is stronger than the Nubians, that he knows that he will face in attempting to take over all time.

Professor Pepper - Brown Soul Glo

“Fret not my child.” As he whispers in Professor Pepper Brown’s subconscious. Fret not my child. He whispers into her heart. “I love you and your work.” “I value your worth and your work.” “And I love you more than Davis LeMay” “You should kill him, for his betrayal.”

She stood there inanimate. Black smoke and embers where spewing from her nostrils. Flames of red-hot fire shot out from her eyes in a jet stream flame. Like a flame thrower gun. She is peering into the lab and at the spaces that they once shared together. The spaces that built together. The space where they had designed the time machine, together.

Now, it was all just a monument to the memories of the times when they were one and working on a common goal. A goal to build the first ever time travel tour business. They'd loved in those spaces. They'd toiled day and night over their dream. They'd invested together. They'd prayed together. They'd laid together.

They'd planned to have a life together. And now it was all just a memory. Her lover had fallen for a slave girl, from another century. Now, in her mind it was a testament to nothing. It was a waste of time, in her mind now. In her mind now, it had all been built on lies and betrayal. In her mind, he was now her enemy. Now, in her mind, she wanted revenge. She wanted pay back.

She'd given her life to their business. She'd given herself to him. She'd given all her love to him. She'd given him the platform to grow into the status that he had. It had been all her doing, and all her money and resources that were used to seed their business.

But in her mind now, he'd wasted it all and betrayed her love and trust. He'd used her gifts for his own agenda. She was convinced now that she'd been a fool, all along. She believed that her lover had stolen her trade secrets, brand, and trademarks. She was hell bent on revenge now. She was determined to pay him back.

The only way to kill her husband Davis in the past and before he is born, is to undo time itself, which is to undo or kill God. Dr. Pepper is under the possession of the Devil. He's convinced her that this is possible. She believes she can kill Davis and God.

Now, Lucifer's plot to lure Professor Pepper Brown into a scheme to take over, time has worked for him. And now, the stage was set. Satan's plan to take over time was unfolding. And now he had the technology to do it, with the help of the Professors of iVision Dynamics.

Lucifer

Lucifer now has strategy to get back at the most High-God, for helping his beloved children, the Nubians. Satan had tried since the creation of the children of God, to destroy them. Through slavery, diseases, poverty, through drugs, through divorce, through false religions and through the enterprise of the incarceration.

Satan knows that the only way to kill LeMay in the past before he was born is to undo time itself. Which would be to undo or kill God. Dr. Pepper is under the possession of the Devil and believes that her plan of revenge against Davis LeMay, can be achieved by collaborating with Professor Eve and Professor Eickvonstein. Satan hath convinced them that it is possible to undo time and to kill God. Now Lucifer had a team and a plan to undue the existence of God, and time itself.

Lucifer realizes that he needs a leader to lead the nomads, the “Reptosapien. He finds that leadership in Xerses. King of Persia.

Xerses

Xerxes needs a wife. So, he borrows one of Satan's witch wives Jezebel. Jezebel is the evilest woman to have ever lived. She loves Satan and she is immortal. Jezebel is pure evil and hates God and his children. She buys into the plot and wants to kill LeMay and God and undo time.

Jezebel

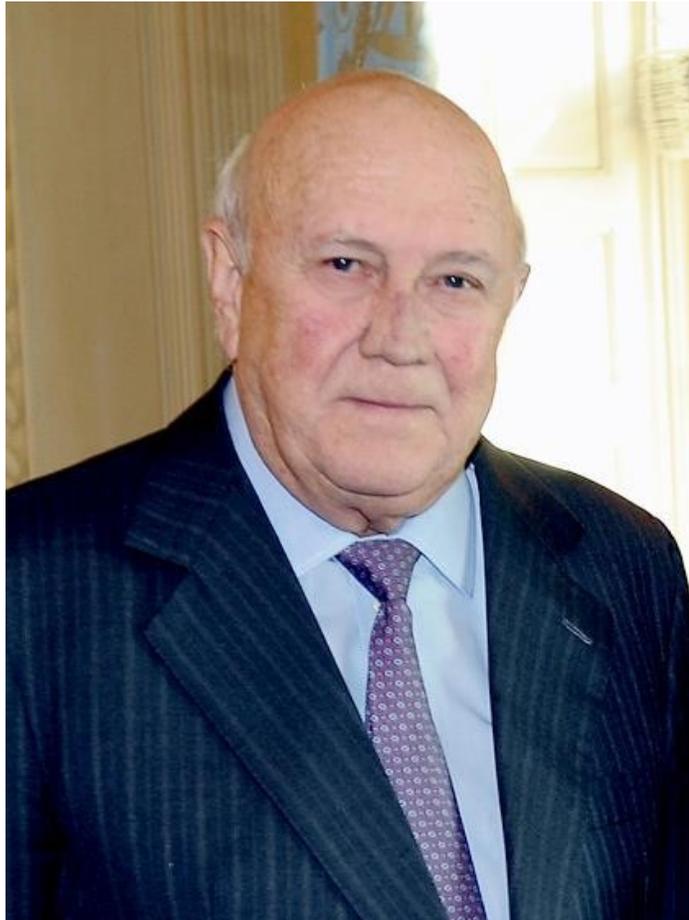

Xerxes realizes that he will need an attaché of personal guards. So, Satan assigns to him the fiercest warriors none to man, in the bible days. They were, the Assyrians. Satan assigns an elite Cyber Assyrians guard as Xerxes's personal guard. The Assyrians brought fear to the children of Israel. They were the perfect Cyber soldier, to fight against the children of God, the Nubian.

Cyber Assyrian

Cyber F.W. de Klerk

As Satan plan is beginning to formalize, he realizes that he will need guidance in enslaving the Nubians. So, he reanimates and then contract's the help of F.W. de Klerk and Willie Lynch. To train slave masters in the skill of enslaving the Nubians, and in developing a best practice for maintaining their stronghold over Nubians. Willie Lynch has been reanimated as, Adolph Hitler.

Cyber Willie Lynch / Adolf Hitler

Chapter 1: iVison's Vision

It was a day like any other at the office and iVison's production teams were as busy as they ever were before. Their industrious and creative sales force was driving the momentum for the increase in production. Their portfolio of customers wanting to go back into time had exceeded their demands for Cryogenic preservations services. Most of their sales analytics pointed to many of their customers wanting to back to visit their lost loves ones.

Professors Pepper and Freedom Brown, two of the founders of Soul Glow Industrious were at the factory and in her office reviewing some market analysis data that afternoon. While they surveyed analytics while they tuned into their favorite sports show The Wrestlefest show. Coffee, the team lead was whopping ass as usual. "Whoop his ass", Pepper mumbles as Coffee puts down one opponent after another.

iVison's Steller success has been afforded to them largely due to their technological advancements in time travel. Which is one of their 3 primary lines of business. Their time travel technology was developed by 3 physicist who are sisters and whose corporation is known as Soul Glow Industries. The 3 Nobel prizing winning physicist had collaborated with Dr. Davis LeMay, who was the recipient of 7 generations of engineers and scientist.

Davis LeMay IIV and Peppers Brown's marriage was a match made in heaven it seemed. They'd met in school and later founded the Kemetec Institute of Sciences and Engineering, (KISE).

Now the institute was graduating engineers and post graduate degreed students comparable to that of the now ancient M.I.T.

Pepper Brown had leveraged Soul Glow's success to become a major shareholder in iVision Dynamics and she was now globally recognized as the leadership of iVision Dynamics. Geo Physicists, Professor Thomas Düsseldorf was later brought in to collaborate with Dr. Davis LeMay IIV in the management of the corporation.

But it was Professor Pepper Brown's efforts and ingenuity that was driving iVison's meteoric success now. The institute and the corporation's success and the brand were all to her credit. IVision Dynamics corporation was valued at 17 zillion dollars, while Pepper Brown's net worth was somewhere near 150 trillion dollars.

Sometimes Pepper Brown's professional stature overshadowed her husbands, Dr. LeMay. Dr. LeMay had learned to cope with his wife's success in his own way and he was mindful of their image in the community as being a power couple and one who had it all together.

They were both role models, educators, authors, and public speakers that were in high demand. Professor Davis LeMay IIV had developed techniques for balancing their life and their work styles that they'd both established. Later Dr. LeMay would have to lean on these skills as time went on.

“Whoop his Ass”! Shouted Freedom Brown as she took in the show. The Intergalactic Wrestling Federation's Wrestle Fest was the most popular sports stream galaxy to galaxy. Coffee had become an overnight success having never lost a match. As usual Coffee was dishing out the beatdowns opponent after opponent.

The Wrestlefest matches were a free style hand to hand fight to the last person standing competition. Most of the opponents that faced Coffee wouldn't last 3 rounds. Sometimes when she really felt like putting on a show, she'd toy with her opponent like a cat does with a mouse.

This day was one of those days because her current opponent was a direct descendant of the Dictator Donald Trump, who was a 20th century demagog who help to reestablish the practice of genocide, racism, and exclusion.

As Pepper Brown's attention turned to the match, she thought of how she'd grown to love Coffee, not just for abilities but for the achievements that she'd made during the infamous WWII which was fought on the planet earth. Coffee's contribution to the war effort changed the tide of the war and afforded the allied forces to obtain the upper hand.

Suddenly, Coffee delivers a punishing and disabling kick to the balls of the giant Arian descendent rendering him helpless to more of Coffee's brutal punishment. He leans in and over into the pain in his groin and as he does, he looks up just high just enough to catch a glimpse of Coffees hands reaching toward his ears which she then grabs and pulls on like paddles as her knee is heading towards his face, which lands directly into his nose which forces him to lean back up.

With lightning speed Coffee recoils back and rolls into a classic drop kick that lands into the chest of the giant who's been reduced to a weakling whose legs were now like noodles. The giant is pummeled out of the ring by the force of Coffees blow, as the crowd goes wild. "Game over sucker"! Coffee shouts.

As Pepper and Freedom cheer Coffee on from across the cosmoses, they reminisce on the many video clips that they'd seen of Coffee charging the front lines of the Nazi's and the having broken through many of their lines of protection; fortified from Hedge Rows. "How do you like that, mister superior race"? She says under her breath.

The connection with Coffee and Pepper Brown was much deeper than her admiration of her as a sports personality and as a decorated war hero. Pepper Brown was also the blood relative of one of the scientists who had worked on the initial prototype for Coffee; the first Artificial Intelligence Autonomous Combat Unit, (AAICU). iVision Dynamics contracted Professor Shirlene Parks. who was a graduate of the ancient HBCU, Howard University.

In those days, 4 centuries before when African Americans weren't allowed to participate in such endeavors they could and would often perform and function behind the scenes. Which was the case of Professor Parks. She developed the algorithms behind the technology that was used to incorporate the DNA of the ancient Moors of Spain into Coffee.

Working on Coffee's prototype was an opportunity for Professor Shirlene Parks to shine as an entrepreneur and as an African American. Professor Parks brokered the deal with the U.S. Army to build Coffee's prototype. Yet, it wasn't entirely her efforts that produced Coffee. With the help Professor Davis LeMay's developments in cloning and DNA manipulation technology's, they were able to pull it off and simultaneously begin to live the lives of the most powerful African American at that time.

Pepper Brown had poured all that she had into her partnership with iVision Dynamics, and the partnership meant everything to her. Her reputation was on the line, and she spent every waking hour focusing on manifesting their time travel tour division of iVision Dynamics with Davis LeMay.

And now she'd done it. She'd achieved all her goals and she had the fairytale marriage as the icing on the cake. Pepper Brown believed that her relationship in business and marriage to Davis LeMay was preordained by the universe itself. She'd referenced the Acacia Fields and leveraged the information there which substantiated her beliefs.

Pepper Brown believed that her marriage to Davis LeMay VII was her destiny. She believed that it was all intentional and predestined and she also believed that the bloodline between herself and Professor Shirlene Parks was all part of the plan of the Most High, to ultimately defeat evil.

For Pepper Brown that plan and purpose was helping brown people to unlearn the evil the evil forces of white supremacy had taught them and imbedded into their DNA. The illusion of inferiority had been a curse imparted in the subconsciouses of brown people for generations.

Truly the planets were aligned for me, Dr. Brown thought to herself. Truly she had the favor of the gods, she'd say to herself. She knew that she was cut from royal cloth; she knew that she was the of daughter of Pharos. Pepper also believed that was the incarnation Professor Shirlene Parks. Pepper believed that was following in the path of her great mentor Professor Shirlene Parks.

Chapter 2: Soul Glow

Peppers relentless pursuit of success was always resident. She never quit; she never gave in. She was going to win no matter what and no matter what she had to do. Even if it meant removing breaking the rules she was going to do what she had to make her visions and dreams manifest.

Pepper Brown had also been a powerful force in politically and legislatively. She'd led a coalition and fostered bills in the former America that outlawed Xenophobia, Homophobia, Anti-Semitism, Islamophobia and hate crimes against extraterrestrials and cyber units also.

Pepper Brown, her ancestors, and her corporation Soul Glow, pushed for legislation to eliminate organized religion in the former planet earth. Humans and Extra Terrestrials now used the time that they would normally use to offer their worship in a traditional setting now used this time to invest in cultivating their individual spiritual awareness in a method called, centering.

Centering was a psycho spiritual practice adopted galaxy to galaxy. It was a way of opening thought waves and channels in the brain to evoke the rising of the Kundalini and spiritual awareness. Centering was sort of a blend between the ancient Zen Buddhist, ancient Christianity, and Alchemy with much of the ideology and teachings of Jesus Christ at the center.

The participants would congregate at the facilities that were constructed to simulate the ancient pyramids; as the pyramids design afforded them enhanced bilateral access to the Ether, conduction of electromagnetics, sound waves and vibrations for physical healing and for purging bad and negative seeds of karma within their subconscious.

The centering facilities afforded the participants to be able to fully embrace esoteric and metaphysical realms by opening their third eye and pineal glands, without the dogma and rigidity of formal religions. The subconscious training was essential to become spiritually awake.

Much of this reformation in the former earth was triggered by the ancient presidency in the 21st century of Donald Trump. Which was one of the administrations that facilitated the establishment of Neo Nazi regime and the 4th right.

The Trump administration was also responsible for releasing the creating and unleashing the Corona virus to shift the U.S. economy to utilizing digital currency that was created by his firm, Haliburton, eradicated brown people from the planet and to retain his presidency. The recommended treatments were developed by the Trump administrations partners in a further effort to finalize the eradication of all brown people of the universe.

The virus wreaked havoc on Nubian culture and all inhabitants of the earth; it was designed to target the less fortunate and disenfranchised and those who didn't have access to good nutrition and medical treatment. The Trump administration eliminated national health care at the inception of the virus being launch into the ancient United States of America.

The Trump administration was manifested to reestablish legalized slavery and it was later revealed that Adolf Hitler was reanimated as Donald Trump to perform this.

Trump's virulent combination of ignorance, emotional instability, demagoguery, solipsism, and vindictiveness would do more than result in a failed presidency. It also led to civil war and to the dismantling of the GOP. Mitch McConnell, Kevin McCarthy, William Barr, Rand Paul, Lindsey Graham, Rush Limbaugh, Jared Kushner, Peter Navarro, Ben Carson, Betsy DeVos, and many other Republican leaders were found to be guilty of war crimes imprisoned as prisoners of war. Mike Pence was given a lesser sentence but sentenced to life in exile.

But alas Trump didn't have the intellect or the academic capacity to pull off leading America out of the Covid-19 crisis that had accidentally swept through Europe and the United States of America. Neither did he have intellectual capacity or compassion to govern or to counsel the people nor was he able to offer true hope to the public. Trump had the intellectual capacity of a 2nd grader and the arrogance of Napoleon.

So, he would front and distract people to pretend and try to hide that he wasn't intelligent. As a result, he would constantly wind up with his foot in his mouth and needing his staff to defend or correct what he's said. The same staff that he would undermine daily.

COVID-19 was the equalizer for the Trump administration. He couldn't hide behind the Senate, and he couldn't weave out of the way this time. His was is looking for their savior but their dissolution turned into discontent and resentment. The virus was the perfect storm to dismantle the disastrous hateful and incompetent Trump administration.

The Nubians overcame them all by the word of light and their love. Belt and Road was the new silk road for the ancient Chinese who allied themselves with people of color and later with the extraterrestrials in the earth to overthrow the evil dictatorships that had plagued the U.S. since the middle passage, centuries before.

Pepper Brown was operating from the perspective that it had taken centuries to suppress the ambitions and to sedate the minds of the Nubians with their perverted doctrines. She believed that it would also take centuries to rewire people of color with positive and correct data fields using technology, ancient esoteric psycho spiritual awakening.

During these seasons there were also dramatic changes in ancient America's health care systems. Prior to the civil wars of 2021 the ancient United States of America maintained a capitalist system and ideology for the management of health care. Which essentially was a way of controlling the weak and ill by allowing diseases and poor health to eliminate them.

Not only was this incredibly profitable for the capitalist it was also social Darwinism at its finest. The Trump administration was close to eradicating the Nubian race and all brown people in the earth as Hitler had tried to, but the ancient Nubians survived thrived and then capitalized on the valley that they found themselves under the rule of the Trump administration.

The Trump administration triggered brown people in the earth to galvanize and to revolt against the evil Neo Nazis by joining in the fight with all other inhabitants of the earth to fight against the evil regime. As a result, all the inhabitants of earth revolted against President Trump and the GOP and ousted them in a coup and a civil war. Which led to the freedoms and liberty that humanity was enjoying and maintaining today four centuries later.

There were also many reforms in the education and senior citizens care sectors. The ancient, united states now had adopted free education and free health care for seniors. These were all initiatives that were fostered by Professor Coffee Brown and Soul Glow.

Now, 30 years after her entrance into the political arena and the formation of a new Galactic Government and the reformation of the former earths school and senior systems Pepper Brown had it all; except one thing. She was barren. Pepper Brown could bear children. They'd tried for the last 8 years yet time and time again they'd lose the baby within the first couple of months of conception.

Going through this ordeal repeatedly was so taxing on their family emotionally so they finally decided to either adopt or create their own child through technology. Ultimately, creating a simulated life form with their DNA became their choice.

And as the decision to build a child through science and technology rather than to continue trying became more and more acceptable to them over time, the more that it seemed that Davis had to suppress his feelings of having his children the traditional way. The more that he'd contemplate it the more that his anxiety grew and grew.

Davis turned to his work, athletics, and forms of martial arts to ease the pain and to counteract his discontent. But deep inside he knows that whoever they created the child would never be the child that he and his wife longed to have. So, for the sake of their brand and their fortune he buried the pain deep inside and masked it with distractions and preoccupations, that he'd constantly create. But they never seemed to fill him completely and only temporarily.

Chapter 3: Le Nuevo Alchemy

Pepper Brown's office door swings open abruptly and then her sister Professor Angela Brown, Freedom Brown's twin sister storms through the door waving a report in her hand. The walk from the door and to Pepper Brown's desk was over 100 yards and there were only 3 other people who could traverse her security firewalls without being neutralized. It was designed to be that way to make the person walking to her desk intimidated.

But Angela Brown was never intimidated by the hall, and she wasn't having it today. She came marching toward Pepper like a boxer in a ring about commence a fight. Pepper could hear her steps that boomed and echoed across the floor and rocked her desk as came closer and closer. "Awe hell, here comes the Devil!" Freedom exclaims.

As Angela approaches Pepper Browns desk Pepper Brown begins to slowly do a 180 swing around in her wing backed office chair and she timed it just at the right moment to meet the oncoming onslaught from the co-owner of the Soul Glow, Angela Brown.

Angela leans forward and over the front of Pepper's desk, puts one hand on her hip and with the other hand she raises as she shakes the report up and around above her head. Pepper Brown had seen this look and this behavior before from Angela Brown. She knew that this was her fight posture, and she knew that her next response would trigger one or two responses from her partner.

“Have you seen this damned expense report from your damned husband? And have you reviewed the time allotment that he's spent and the amount of time travel that he is requesting to spend for his prospecting in 1866? And are you aware of the damage that he could cause by staying too long in the past? And are you aware of the galactic penalties for staying longer than the allotted time are?”

Pepper leans back into back in the supple lambskin chair and then crossed her arms. She looks up into Angela's eyes and responds, “I am aware of the regulations and restrictions that are enforced by Intergalactic Time Travel consortium. I wrote it”. And I also appreciate your concern for the damage that could be caused to the universe by staying long in past.

“I approved Dr. LeMay’s request for more time in 1866, as opposed to him creating an alternate universe because that was his preference”. “Dr. LeMay prefers the look and feel of an authentic universe comparable to that of a virtual one, and I am aware of the risk of creating a flux”.

“But his research also could also help us to better understand how to transcend the curves in the universe, to bend and stretch it to extend our stays longer than the current two weeks at a time.” “I am also aware that he’ll need to move in angles as his time will be extended in past an into the halls of Amenti.”

“It was also more cost effective in this case to allow him to return for another 2 weeks rather than create a virtual one, which requires more space on our clouds that could be used for paying customers, as Dr. LeMay is paying for half of the research at his own expense”. “Angela, I need you to follow Dr. LeMay’s orders, please”. “Are we clear”?

At that, Angela gives her partner the evil eye; the one that only a Nubian Queen can execute. The kind of evil rolling of the eyes that had been passed down from generation to generation, from mother to child for centuries. It was a look that would have cut the average person in half; but not Pepper Brown. Pepper Brown had tenacity of the Ancient Michelle Obama, the business savvy of the ancient Madam Walker and she also possessed the diplomatic skills of Nefertiti.

Angela Brown knew that she wasn't going to win this fight and she knew that now was a good time to end of this argument. She chooses to retreat and to fall back with her assault. Her blood pressure began to come down as she began to dial down her attack mode. The budging blood vessels in her eyes began to dissipate as heart rate slowed down also.

She takes a deep breath and says, "I'm sorry, I'll see you later." Pepper responds, "good day Professor Brown." At that, Angela turns around and slowly begins to walk back towards the office door that led from Pepper's office and back to the other sector of Soul Glow Industries' pavilion. As she walks away, she says under her breath, "keep sucking his d—k for the money."

She knew the Pepper had also handled the situation better than she had. She knew that Pepper had taken the high road and she also knew that she hadn't disturbed Pepper's chi. Although felt dissatisfied with the results of her fight; she felt that she had pierced Pepper's armor and she felt a sense of victory even if the confrontation hadn't gone the way that she'd planned. Angela hated to lose to anyone.

Angela knew that it was cheap shot at Pepper, but she knew that she would continue to provoke Pepper anyway. And while she watched the buildings in the pavilion go by, she began to plot a plan of revenge against her brother-in-law Davis LeMay and her sister Pepper Brown. She knew that Pepper was right, but she didn't care. Angela knew that she would try to come at Pepper again but on another day and another time.

As Angela rode the sound powered tram back to side of the pavilion, she contemplated her actions as well as the proverbial beat down that she'd just received from Pepper. Deep down she knew that Pepper Brown would never take a risk that she hadn't thought through. She knew that Pepper was a perfectionist, and she knew that she was an excellent Scientist also. So, she knew that her plan couldn't be quickly developed.

Pepper Brown knew that the roots of the resentment that she would often receive from Angela her sister ran deeper than just a sibling rivalry. She knew that an attack on her husband's work wasn't professional but always personal. She knew that it was related to Angela's prior relationship with Davis before her marriage to Davis had begun.

Pepper knew that Angela's verbal assaults on her steamed from resentment and jealousy that she had for her and for her marriage to Davis. Pepper also believed that her emotions and negative energy would someday come to a hilt and that it could possibly affect their enterprise.

Pepper knew that her sisters' feelings ran deep, and she knew that had to walk on proverbial egg shells when I came to discussions about Dr. LeMay's work. But Pepper was also very cognizant of the significance of her marriage to Davis LeMay. She realized that the relationship wasn't just a love relationship, but it also represented a dynasty. A dynasty that Pepper had built upon marrying Davis LeMay and partnering with iVision Dynamics.

It was a dynasty that Angela couldn't see being established back then before Pepper had manifested it all with her faith, visualization skills and by leveraging spiritual and metaphysical laws of attraction.

Angela's love relationship with Davis LeMay was ended by Angela and Angela alone, for reasons unbeknown by anyone but Davis and herself. Pepper was always of the opinion that during their relationship that Angela felt that Davis didn't have the means that could compliment Angela's lifestyle and she believed that was that this was the reason that Angela broke off the relationship. 10 years later, Davis LeMay and Pepper Brown had become Zillionaires and had taken iVision and Soul Glow to an incomprehensible level of success.

Although Angela would also enjoy the fruits of being one the owners of Soul Glow, for Angela the marriage of Davis and Pepper was now a constant reminder of the love that she once had, and it was also an incessant thorn in Angela's flesh.

Pepper had been able to conceptualize the potential of Soul Glo's and iVison's collaboration; Angela couldn't see the future with Davis from where she was standing then. In those days, Davis was only a Trillionaire. But Pepper saw the opportunity with a partnership between Soul Glo and iVision as being a biproduct of her marriage to Davis LeMay.

Pepper was able to interject the concepts of time travel into the subconscious minds of the board members of iVision and consequently she was able to advance her research in Alchemy, furthering the development of the framework for transcending into other dimensions in time.

Pepper Brown had open channels in the minds of the board members of iVision that afforded them access to fields of higher planes of thought to visualize the time travel line of business. As a result, Pepper was able to leverage the capitol to commence the establishment of time travel tour entity within the iVision brand. And not long after Davis and Pepper got married it triggered the stellar success of iVision Dynamic's time travel tour division.

Pepper Brown's relationship with Davis LeMay, had been tested and fortified by fire in many ways. One of them was by using themselves for testing of their time travel technology. Davis and Pepper had used themselves as gunnie pigs to test the cube for time travel. Neither of them was sure that it would work but after 5 years of development and trials the cube was ready for commercial use and so the marketing phase began.

Once the green light was given from the shareholders and board of directors, Pepper's insight led her to target market seniors who had lost loved ones and who desired to see them again. Pepper understood that seniors were a key market. Then she turned her marketing strategy to parents who had lost their children and then towards spouses who had lost their partners.

Within 8 years of the time travel tour line of businesses inception, it had generated more revenue than all iVison's lines of business combined. As a result, Pepper Brown had become the wealthiest female Nubian in history. And her research in Alchemic sciences and transmuting physical matter was accepted into academic curriculum and Centering was later adopted galaxy to galaxy as a method of physio spiritual therapy. For which, iVision Dynamics received repetitive grant funding to further the Alchemic sciences.

Davis LeMay VII and Pepper Brown had become the most influential couple of all time. Second only to Shango and comparable to Osiris and Isis. People had nicknamed Pepper Gia and Isis now. And they sometimes referred to Davis as Osiris. Their efforts in transferring matter from dimension to dimension had catapulted them into stellar success and wealth.

Chapter 4: Manifest Destiny

Davis had just returned to 2354 from a two week stay in 1866. He had been spent the last 18 months gathering research but was initially allowed to go back to 1866 to meet his great, great, great, great, great grandmother, who had left a letter for her children to read that had been partially burned in a fire.

The letter had been passed down from generation to generation and finally to him. All his life Davis wanted to read the entire letter, and now with the codified research of his wife and the advent the time travel tour business it was finally possible for him to go travel back into time to meet the woman who'd written the letter and learn why it had been burned.

Davis's researched had garnered much information and helped their business to be able to understand how extend the amount of time that one could stay in the past and the effects on the future because of his research in 1865.

Davis had been able to meet Mother LeMay, who was the slave of Henri' LeMay. He'd also learned the reason why the letter was burned. It had been an accident when she was cooking and the letter was accidentally burned, but she managed to save the portion that remained throughout the ages.

Davis spent hours upon hours, day after day, and week after week listening to Mother LeMay while sitting at her table. He sold himself as an ex-slave who'd enlisted in the Army and had now been discharged after the war. Mother LeMay also had a beautiful daughter that Mother LeMay was fortunate enough to keep.

She was the only one, the other two had been sold by massa. Mother LeMay had a son also who had served with the 54th in the civil war. She was so proud of her son, and she longed to see him again. She didn't know what had become of him since he'd enlisted.

Davis believed that it was his calling in life to build the time travel facility with his wife Pepper and he knew that he was walking in steps that were already ordained. He also knew that at some point he would need to come with more justification to the board of directors and to Pepper for why he kept needing to return to 1867 every two weeks, for the last 18 months.

Davis is ready for his next expedition back to 1867 although this time he'd only been home for a week. Pepper noticed that he seemed more anxious and excited also this time. As he was being seated and wired in the cube, Angela Brown comes into the transport room and announces to the engineers that she would be programming Davis's trip this time.

"Take an early lunch break Steven, I got this". She says the to the engineer. At that Steven nods in agreement and leaves the programming of the Cube in Angela's capable hands. Unbeknown to Davis, neither is anyone aware of Angela's motives for taking over the launch.

Davis is bracing for the transcendence of his molecules and jumping from 2354 to 1867. However, Angela programs the transfer to Morris Island, Fort Wagner, South Carolina on July 18, 1863. Which was where the second assault on Morris Island or the Battle of Fort Wagner, was fought by the heralded 54th regiment during the first civil war in the ancient United States of America.

Angela watches through the transparent walls of the Cube as it spins into light speed as Davis's body begins to transmute and vanish before her eyes. She knows that she has just sent Davis to the front lines of the campaign for Fort Wagner; the bloodiest battle during the first civil war in the ancient United States of America, between the North and the South.

She hopes and believes that Davis will be killed during the campaign and that his body will be washed ashore like many of the other soldiers of the 54th. This is her revenge on Davis and Pepper. Angela says to herself, "that's the end of Davis LeMay." "Take that, you god damned wanna be Buffalo Soldier."

Chapter 5: Trouble in Paradise

Meanwhile back at the ranch, Pepper is contemplating the things that Angela said to her earlier. She knew that she was blowing smoke, but she also knew that her pot shots wouldn't stop. She knew that there would be another time and another place for her to do it again and the more that she would the more that Pepper would contemplate her words more deeply.

Pepper sat inanimate for a few minutes and just looking at stars outside of her office window. Her still quiet posture prompted Freedom to ask if she was okay. Pepper answers, gestures with a sigh and answers yes. She'd been experiencing anxiety of the last few 6 months over Davis's frequent jumps back into 1866.

Not only was she missing her husband, but she also was growing weary of having to explain to the Intergalactic Time Travel Consortium, why Davis's jumps were constantly being extended beyond the 2-week statutory limitations. She was growing weary of having to make excuses for him time and time and again over the last year.

Pepper had also noticed that each time that he would return from 1866, that Davis seemed to more and more anxious to return to 1866. Pepper also felt that Davis had started to become distant from her, but she would just chalk it up to his dedication to science and to expanding the horizons of iVision's time travel division.

Whenever Pepper would ask Davis about the extensive jumps that he'd been doing since the ones he'd commenced into 1866, he would always remind her that he was also still working with Mother LeMay to locate her son. He was also very insistent that he hadn't completed all the scientific aspects of the jump that coincided with locating her son.

This assertion by Davis would usually hold Pepper's anxiety at bay but now she was increasingly becoming more and more impatient with Davis's extended jumps and she had begun to wonder if Davis was using the jumps as an excuse to be away from her. Pepper wondered if their inability to have a baby could be the reason for Davis to become distant, restless, and perhaps even resentful of her.

Pepper would try to equate Davis's frequent and scheduled jumps to that of a long-term scientific exploration and humanitarian project. One that is funding. But time and time again Peppers woman's intuition would take precedence over logic. Her emotions and her longing for her husband had started take its toll on her and she was begging to look for ways to impress upon her husband that she wanted the expedition to be ceased.

At this point, the reasons behind why Davis always needed the extra time were becoming excuses to Pepper. Now her curiosity was elevated, and her questions weren't being answered to her satisfaction. It wasn't feasible to her that her husband could be having an affair but there were just so many unanswered questions.

Pepper decides to investigate further rather than the tertiary analysis of Davis's jumps that she had been doing before. It had been 11 months since the excursions had begun and she noticed that over the last 8 months of Davis's jumps, they'd been done in intervals of two weeks, with a week at home. Which meant that she seen her husband just over 20 weeks out of the entire year since the expedition started. And it seems as though he was no closer to finding mother LeMay's son.

There had been some significant data captured in the length of time being extended beyond the two-week period, which had been leaked to the public. As a result, iVision Dynamics stock value increased substantially. Davis would often bring up the earnings forecasts from his prospecting up whenever Pepper would become insistent about the repeated and prolonged jumps into 1866. Davis would blow off her requests and admonitions the way that a man would blow off a project around the house.

Lately and more often than not, when Pepper would bring up the matter, Davis would become agitated and anxious. It was as though she'd touched a nerve in Davis. It was as though it had become a touchy subject. A subject that seemed non-negotiable. This wasn't normal for Davis, and this wasn't the kind of disconnect that existed in their marriage. This was new and the only coincidence that Pepper could correlate Davis's behavior was to his reoccurring expedition into 1866.

Peppers minds-eye began to be awakened; something wasn't quite right with the scenario. Peppers sixth sense was telling her that something was out of order with her husband. She could feel that their harmony was being disrupted and she could sense that her husband had changed. Her third eye was sending the correct signals into her consciousness and into her subconscious simultaneously now, like data being written onto an ancient computer hard drive.

The writing was on the wall and the signs were all there. Something or someone was pulling her husband away from her. Peppers woman's intuition began to take precedence over her logic. There was rising tensions between them now. To Davis, it seemed as though Pepper would ask him questions that were antagonistic. As a result, his responses would sometimes even trigger an argument.

Things had changed in Davis and Pepper's marriage; there was trouble in paradise and on the horizon also for their family. Alas, their marriage was having problems and neither one knew how to get back to the love that they once knew.

The comfort of her being close to her husband was now gone and their emotional separation came without warning. Pepper was now forced to separate herself from being close to husband's body and the smell that she'd loved for years. She hadn't known any other routine for years; her life was her marriage and her existence.

Peppers very identity was being removed. She had no reference for living this way and feeling so neglected and dejected. She'd tried to hide her feelings for so long and she was told not to respond and to act as though she'd never invested time cultivating her marriage.

Pepper was now resolute in her suspicions. She believed that if it wasn't something then it was someone that was pulling her husband away from her. She was determined to get to the root of the problem and now, by any means necessary. She had called on the help of the elders once before. She had leveraged her celestial connection to her cosmic ancestors before and it was time to do it again.

Pepper needed a fast track into the halls of Amenti and to transmute time without using a Cube. For help she summoned Thoth for permission to transcendence using the deity's portals. She postured herself into a full lotus posture, closed her eyes and began to draw from the energy fields that would lead her into a heightened lucent dream.

Just then a call from Angela chimes and distracts Pepper from her meditation and vibrations. Pepper returns to her physical state and then answers the call.

Angela: “How’s it going”, asks Angela:

Pepper: “Fine”. “I was in the process of looking into some of Davis’s jumps into 1866.

Angela: “No Shit”! Say’s Angela.

Pepper: “Yes, I’ve been thinking about them, since you arose the issue”.

Angela comes through the door to Pepper’s office and says, “hmmm, we need to talk.”

Angela: “Come down from there please, you’ll need to be seated and not levitating to hear this.”

Pepper ascends back down to the floor and gives Angela her attention.

Angela: “Where were going to look first?”

Pepper: “I was going to start with his last jump into 1866. I was going to use the log for the specific date.”

Angela: “Well, there’s something that you should know, and that is that I sent Davis further back than 1866.”

Pepper: “Why?” “What the hell did you do that for?”

Angela: “Davis said that he needed to go back further to get more information about Mother LeMay’s son.”

Pepper: “Really, he didn’t tell me that.”

Angela: “I know, he said that he didn’t want to hear about changing the manifest. So, I authorized it and sent him.”

Pepper: “What is the specific date and place that he jumper.”

Angela: “Fort Wagner, South Carolina, July 18th, 1863.”

Pepper: “WHAT”! “You sent him to the 54th regiments battle for Fort Wagner?” “What the hell for?”

Angela: “Because he said to.” “I was just following orders.”
Remember, you said to follow his orders.”

Pepper looks at Angela with disdain and humor simultaneously.

Angela: “I don’t want you to waste your time looking into jumps where Davis isn’t going to be.”

Pepper: “Right, I’ll need to transmute my mind into the future state that Davis will be, rather than physically transfer.”

I was about to ping Father Thoth, when you called me for permission to use the deity’s portals.

Angela: “I’ll hang out here with you for a while, let me know how it’s going or if you need anything while you’re on the other side of the present state.”

Pepper: “Can you go with me?” There might be something that I might miss.”

Angela: “Sure.”

Pepper and Angela resume the ancient full Lotus posture and begin to vibrate into a higher plane of conciseness. As they channel their mental energies together looking for energetic hotspots and multidimensional portals begin to appear before them.

They are ready to Alchemically transmute their minds into the future state of Davis in 1866, through their vibrations being connected into higher planes of conciseness; the portals illuminate their path as their vibrations spin higher and higher and then faster and faster, until they become almost inanimate. Now, they can move through the ether with ease and fluidity, enabling them to exist in a state of infinite sized molecules that transcends space and time.

First, at the speed of sound then at the speed of light and then infinity and then beyond then from dimension to dimension through their thought and intention. First, at the speed of sound then at the speed of light and then infinity and then beyond then from dimension to dimension.

The multidimensional portal that appeared to them to assist them on their journey is now invisible, as they no longer need it. Soul Glow had perfected this and put a brand on it. They were transcendental experts and rendered their subconscious into consciousness into present reality at will. Now they were in states of consciousness that is beyond their extended consciousness's. Now, they can see into the cosmos and move around from dimension to dimension like a fish floating in water by their faith in action.

They choice the exact time and place that Davis LeMay had prograded for his last jump to; October 30th,1866. It was Mother LeMay's house on Henry LeMay's plantation. Although Mother LeMay was now emancipated she wasn't aware of it. As was common among many slaves for some time after the emancipation proclamation was instated, by Abraham Lincoln.

As they traveled through the ether, they came closer and closer to the house, they could see the picture becoming clearer and clearer to them. It was Mother LeMay's shack outside of her Master Henri LeMay's house. It was Davis LeMay. It was Davis LeMay asleep, with a woman and a baby, lying in a bed together. The baby appeared to be very young, a few months at best.

Pepper and Angela's virtual mouths dropped at the sight. What they were witnessing was true and authentic. Davis was their sleeping with a woman and a young child that was apparently his baby. Pepper and Angela didn't say anything to each other they just hovered there watching as the little family laid there in simple sweet bliss. It was clear to them that this was Davis's family.

It became blatantly obvious that this was the reason that Davis had made repeated jumps to 1866; he had a family there. He had a whole other life that he'd been cultivating over the last 18 months. I was all so clear to Pepper now. In that moment of the realization, she let out a scream that could be heard from dimension through dimension.

Her scream denoted the pain and anguish of a woman scorned. It echoed throughout the cosmoses to the very footstool of Oshun, mother earth herself. Upon hearing her daughters cry she wept, and a tear rolled down from the heavens.

Angela grabs her sister and begins to console her, as the two celestial sisters pondered what they'd just seen. But although Angela displayed contempt for Davis's actions, she was also happy to see her sister upset, this way and by Davis as well. Angela was happy that her sister was in pain. But Pepper was so distraught that she did not perceive her sister's true emotions.

They reluctantly began their journey back into 2354. They only need to think of what they want to do, and it would automatically manifest. In this case it would be the celestial multidimensional portal that extended from future states back to their present state in 2354. Pepper was silent during their transcendence as Angela looked at her pretending to be concerned.

Peppers physical eyes began to reappear as the tears that rolled down her eyes were too heavy for them to remain in the spirit realm. As she wept Angela simply caressed her shoulders while saying, "It's ok. It's ok." But Pepper was inconsolable and nearly incoherent as they traversed back into the future, to 2354 while they watched solar systems and galaxies flash by them.

Chapter 6: All hell breaking Loose

Pepper remained silent upon returning home and as she allowed her emotions to fester, and as her anger arose, she became less and less tearful. Heartbroken and betrayed, Pepper Brown begins to desire revenge against Davis. She is ripe for deception. The kind of deception that only Satan can render. She needs a way to get back at LeMay. The love that she had once felt for her husband Davis, is now completely gone. Now, only hate and discontent for her husband remained. She wants to destroy Davis and his work.

Then, Lucifer sees an opportunity. He slivers into Professor Brown's mind and convinces her to create a formula that will turn humans into reptiles. Satan believes the powers that reptiles possess, is stronger than the Nubians that he knows that he will face, in attempting to take over all time.

"Fret not my child." He says, as he whispers into Professor Pepper Browns subconscious. Fret not my child. He whispers into her heart. "I love you and your work." "I value your worth and your work." "And I love you more than Davis LeMay." "You should kill him, for his betrayal."

Pepper stood there inanimate. Black smoke and embers where spewing from her nostrils. Flames of red-hot fire shot out from her eyes in a jet stream flame. Like a flame thrower gun. She is peering into the lab and at the spaces that they once shared together. The spaces that they'd built together. The space where they had designed the time machine together.

Now, it was all just a monument to the memories of the times when they were one and working on a common goal. A goal to build the first-time travel tour business. They'd loved in those spaces. They'd toiled day and night over their dream. They'd invested together. They'd prayed together. The laid together. They'd planned to have a life together. And now it was all just a memory. Her lover had fallen for a slave girl, from another century.

Now, in her mind it was a testament to nothing. It was a waste of time, in her mind now. In her mind now, it had all been built on lies and betrayal. In her mind, he was now her enemy. Now, in her mind, she wanted revenge. She wanted pay back. She'd given her life to their business. She'd given herself to him. She'd given all her love to him. She'd given him the platform to grow into the status that he had. It had been all her doing, and all her money and resources that were used to seed their business. But now, in her mind he'd wasted it all and betrayed her love and trust.

He'd used her gifts for his own agenda. She was convinced now that she'd been a fool, all along. She believed that her lover had stolen her trade secrets, brand, and trademarks. She was hell bent on revenge now. She was determined to pay him back. The only way to kill her husband Davis in the past and before he is born, was to undue time itself, which is to undo or to kill God.

Chapter 7: A Woman's Scorn

Dr. Pepper Brown is under the possession of the Devil now. He's convinced her that destroying time is possible. She believes that she can kill Davis LeMay and God, by undoing time. Now, Lucifer's plot to lure Professor Pepper Brown into a scheme to take over time was manifesting. Now, the stage was set. Satan's plan to take over time was unfolding. Satan hath tempted her to do this evil. He has put a seed of murder and revenge in Pepper's heart and in her mind.

Pepper had gone insane at the vision of her husband with that hussy. Pepper plans to kill her husband Davis LeMay and the slave girl and their baby. She plans to jump back in time to do it. But she knows that if she kills LeMay, it will cause a ripple in time. She knows that if she kills him before he's born it will cause a flux. To kill LeMay before he is born would nullify his works and inventions that have helped humanity.

All of creation would never get to see the contributions that Davis LeMay had made. Such as: The cure for cancer, the cure for Aids, the cure for prostate cancer, the cure for Asthma, the time travel machine and so many other inventions would never be produced if Pepper kills her husband, Davis in the past, before he is born. Pepper needs a way to manipulate time itself.

It is Satan in his element and Pepper Brown is tempted. Pepper Brown has a soft spot that Satan can exploit. It is the spirit of vanity and revenge within her. Satan partners vanity and revenge within Pepper Brown to launch his plan to bring Dr. Eickvonstein, who was a colleague of Professor Brown, into his plot. The plot to build, the Reptosapien Dynasty.

Satan's plan is to create a mutated species that consists of human DNA, extraterrestrial DNA, reptilian DNA, and advanced artificial intelligence bio electrical systems architecture. With the assistance of iVision Dynamics and Pepper Brown's time travel technology, Satan believed that he had the tools that he needed to undue time and to kill God.

There was only one other element missing to Satan's plot. And that was a DNA engineer at iVision to perform the work. Enter Dr. Eickvonstein. Dr. Eickvonstein was the perfect candidate. He also had a soft spot that Satan could exploit, and that was that he had an inordinate lust for the flesh. He was like a dog in heat, and he wasn't shy about sharing his aspirations of topping his colleague, Professor Eve.

Professor Eve was drop dead gorgeous, voluptuous brunette who Dr. Eickvonstein had the hots for, since she'd joined iVision Dynamics, 5 years before. Her work on DNA manipulation and cryogenics had won her fame in the science community. She was a noted speaker and author on the subject matter.

Satan sees an opportunity, and he ceases the moment. Satan realizes that if he could get professor Eve to tempt Dr. Eickvonstein to create the Reptosapien, his plot would unfold just as he'd planned. Satan devises a scheme to get Professor Eve to seduce Dr. Eickvonstein, into creating the Reptosapien dynasty. Satan uses the oldest trick in the book to get the good Professor to be tempted by Eve's flesh.

“Put on red today.” Satan whispers into Eve's subconscious.” “Put on the short, tight red dress with the low cleavage today.” “Put on the sweet perfume, and a thong today.” When you see Dr. Eickvonstein today, lead him into your office for a meeting, and when he comes in, kiss him.” “Kiss him and push your breast up against him so that he feels your breast pressing into him.” “When Dr. Eickvonstein is f@_#$$%* you, I'll tell you what to do.”

Chapter 8: Reptosapien Dynasty

Heartbroken and betrayed, Pepper Brown desires revenge against Her husband Davis LeMay. She is ripe for deception. The kind of deception that only Satan can render. She needs a way to get back at LeMay. The love that she had once felt for her husband Davis is gone. Now, only hate and discontent remain. She wants to destroy Davis and his work.

Satan hath tempted her to do this evil. He has put a seed of murder and revenge in Pepper's heart and in her mind. Now, Pepper She has gone insane at the vision of her husband with that hussy.

She plans to kill LeMay and the slave girl. She plans to go back in time to kill her husband. But she knows that if she kills LeMay, it will cause a ripple in time. She knows that if she kills him before he's born it will cause a flux. To kill LeMay before he is born, would also nullify his works and inventions. Creation would never get to see the contributions that Davis has made.

The cure for Cancer. The cure for Aids. The cure of prostate cancer. A cure for Asthma. The time travel machine and so many other inventions, would never be produced if she kills him, in the past, before he is born. She needs a way to manipulate time, itself.

It is Satan in his element with Eve. She is tempted. She has a soft spot that Satan can exploit. It is the spirit of vanity withing her. He uses her vanity to launch his plan to bring Dr. Eickvonstein into his plot. The plot to build the Reptosapien Dynasty.

And Satan's plan was foolproof and infallible. From all appearances, it would seem as though that time was about to be undone, at that God was going to be destroyed.

Chapter: 9 The Plot thickens

“Seduce your sugar daddy.” Lucifer say's to Eve.” “Make him to bite the apple, and then I will give you the world.” It was the same temptation that he'd used for thousands of years before. He used it on Jesus and on many men that vibrated on the primal plains and low chakras. Lucifer had tempted Professor Eve, with the pride of life. Which is the same temptation that he also he'd used on Donald Trump. But Dr. Eickvonstein had another soft spot, and it was envy.

For years prior to joining iVision Dynamics, as a lead Physicist, Dr. Eickvonstein envied Professor Angela Brown for her success and advances in furthering the use of the either and vibration in technology. Dr. Angela Browns research and branding of the company, Soul Glow Vibrations, was received with critical acclaim and it was an instant success in the market systems storage and network infrastructure management as well.

Dr. Eickvonstein was hell bent on marginalizing the growth of Soul Glow Vibrations, and the celebrity status of Dr. Angela Brown. So, the spirit of envy was exploited by the Devil in Dr. Eickvonstein, and he is easily seduced by Professor Eve to create the Reptosapien. He then combines the DNA of mortals, with reptiles and extraterrestrials from many different galaxies with bio electric astro intelligence.

The extraterrestrials are nomads that have no place of their own nor do they have their own anatomy. They are considered pseudo humans, also. But Dr. Eickvonstein loves his creations. He is their god. King is the first Reptosapien to be created and he is the leader of the Dynasty.

He was programed to be the meanest, most sinister villainous being ever created. His venom had the potency of a thousand King Cobras of the ancient earth. And he had the physical strength of a hundred humans. His insights were developed from millions of data bases spanned over centuries of fields of intelligence.

The back-end infrastructure that the entire Reptosapien platform back-end intelligence's name was, Dynasty. It was the largest and the most redundant mainframe ever developed. It was patterned after the design of universes that spanned the cosmoses.

The systems infrastructure grew and expanded dynamically, like the neuro networks of the human brain to accommodate new data for storage and retrieval. It was a direct synergized conduit to the acacia fields and to the ether. Dynasty was super solar computer, that never failed and that couldn't be compromised. Each instance that interfaced with Dynasty could maintain itself as a stand-alone autonomous combat entity, for up to a century after and in the event of losing its connectivity to Dynasty.

The back-end intelligence's name was, Dynasty. Dynasty was spanned and load balanced over millions of galaxies. The system never failed, and neither would any host. The Reptosapien Dynasty was impenetrable and indestructible. The ultra-redundant systems were created by Professor Angela Brown of Soul Glow Industries. Dr. Angela Brown had advanced Alchemic sciences and developed a platform for transmuting thought waves into energy fields that could be leveraged for computer systems storage and load balancing. The technology was later adopted throughout the cosmos.

The ancient earth technology's virtualization methodologies that were used in the early inception of cloud virtualization servers had now been replaced with the energy fields that was resonant within the pyramids, that had been strategically stationed throughout millions of galaxies by the Anunnaki. Dr. Angela Brown's Soul Glow Vibrations owned the patent for the early inception of the super solar computer before Dr. Eickvonstein stole the code for the architecture for Eve's plot.

Now, the ether was accessible to anyone who could vibrate their Kundalini and pineal glands to a frequency that would transmute themselves into a form that could be stored and recorded into the vastness of the Acacia fields and travel through the as pure energy.

10) Old Pirates Dem

Dr. Eickvonstein, under the spell of his concubine, Professor Eve and the Devil was tricked into eating Eve's sweet fruit. Under Eve's control, he then created King. The vilest, deadliest autonomous intelligent war machine ever created. King was designed for one mission and one mission alone. And that was to lead the revolution to take over time and to till all those who had ever allied themselves with the most - high God.

Now, this monster had been unleashed and was wreaking havoc from universe to universe. And he was martialing and enlisting any nomad extraterrestrials, mortals, or mercenary's to be would-be foot soldiers into the Devils army; the Reptosapien Army.

Dr. Eickvonstein had pirated Soul Glow's technology and used it to build Dynasty's infrastructure. Dynasty was now self-aware, and King was its physical body and face. Satan's plan was foolproof and infallible. From all appearances, it would seem as though that time was about to be undone, at that God was going to be destroyed.

Pepper and the devil begin to hash out their strategy.

Pepper Brown - “I take it that you aren’t familiar with the Butterfly effect, genius?”

Satan – “Do you mean how a little change could inadvertently affect something else somewhere in a universe?”

Pepper Brown – “That’s right, captain obvious!”

Satan – “You know, you could get much better results from me, if you show a little respect and be a little nicer to me.”

Pepper Brown – “F*@# You Lucifer!

Satan – “Anyway, have you made any progress on the development of the reverse time portal that we’re going to use to zap God and time away?”

Pepper Brown – “Don’t rush me, Bitch!

Satan – “Pepper, if you continue to talk to me in this manner, I’ll be forced get someone else to work with me.”

Pepper Brown – “Go ahead you little Bitch, I don’t like you anyway, you little Bitch.” “Good luck with that, you little Biatch!”

Satan – “Could you please let me know you have an update; I just want to get on with our plan.”

Pepper Brown – “Our plan?” “You don’t have brains or the balls to pull this off.” “So, sit your ass down somewhere and shut the hell up, before I pimp slap you like Coffee does them hoes in the ring.” “I’ll tell you when I need you to say something.” “Punk ass bitch.”

The banter, name calling and general abuse from Pepper Brown to Satan continues as she contemplates her strategy to kill her husband and to kill God. But Peppers primary interest is in killing her husband and not God. In her mind, God hadn’t done anything to her, Davis LeMay had caused all the problems, and deserved death in her mind.

11) The Practice

Pepper Brown realizes that the best way to destroy Davis LeMay is to create a ripple in time, and not to disrupt the existing universe that Davis is in. The dilemma that Pepper faces now is that she really doesn't care to and or wanted to have anything to do with destroying God, and she never did.

Pepper begins to analyze the situation with 100% of her brain power. The utilization of this technique for finding solutions was mastered during the same year that she'd developed the practice of centering. Pepper's mind is fully open to all data streams and querying the Acacia fields for information to extract, and to imbed it into her conscious mind to burn into her subconscious minds, like an ancient hard drive's needles writing data into her mind.

She had revolutionized the practice of virtual data implants into the mind, by transmuting the human body into the data streams that flow through the ether. Soul Glow Vibrations obtained a galactic pattern on the Vibration technique. The technique that opened the very portals to the halls of Amenti, to be downloaded into the human consciousness.

It was the technique that afforded a human being to connect with their astro-body with the Acacia fields, become one with it, and flow through the luminous virtual Oceans of information. Swimming around in the ocean like a fish in water. Taking and eating whatever it meets within the ocean.

Pepper Brown was deep in Astro-Body meditation, trying to come up with a way to kill Davis LeMay in the past before he was born, without disrupting history and the future. The typical creation of an alternate universe was out of the question. That would only replicate what was already there. Pepper needed to extinguish her husband's life, without destroying his work.

Suddenly, as she was reviewing pages of virtual content, he appeared. It was Thoth, the Scribe. He appeared to her virtually, yet physically. He stopped Pepper in her tracks and now he had her full attention. "Pepper, you must cease this at once." "This will cause you to lose your place in the halls of Amenti." "There are no murderers in the Halls of Amenti."

"And to kill Davis, would not kill the most-high God." "Only God could kill God." "And time can only stop if God says so." "But why would they." "Why would they destroy their beloved creations, because they have failed them?"

"The human species was given free will and the capacity to create, beyond other beings in the Earth." "Displacing the natural order of things, would case a ripple in time and devastation." "Dear child, please don't do this". "The Devil is a liar." "He is only interested in his own agenda, and he doesn't love you." "He is only using you for your time travel technology."

"As the dung from an animal becomes fertilizer for the fields, it is recycled, so does the effect of one death of a human affect the cosmoses." "It is the Butterfly Effect." "The results may not be revealed for centuries, yet the energy of it all will be transmuted into action, in due time."

“You cannot do this evil, Pepper.” “You will become like the primordia’s; your cousins the Caucasians, who have raped and murdered your ancestors.” “You must not function on the low Chakra plane, but rather maintain your existence using the 8th sense.”

Pepper is at a loss for words, and she pauses from her research and meditation in the Acacia fields to show Thoth, her respect and acknowledgment and to contemplate what he’s just revealed to her.

Then, all the sudden, Pepper’s 8th sense is activated and the stream of insights that she sought, moments ago began to flow through her mind like rays of light. The epiphany that she sought for how to kill her husband and to undue time, was now aligned with the words of wisdom that had been transmuted through her father Thoth.

Now, Peppers Kundalini, cerebral cortex, pineal gland, and her 8th sense, were working in super hyper drive. The information that she’d rendered in her mind and had stalled to download, was now flowing through her synapsis like osmosis to plants. She realizes then that the reason for the page fault, and latency in receiving the information was because she was requesting it, for the wrong reason.

Her motivation for receiving the information was based in evil and therefore failed to download. Pepper realized then that the download would have corrupted her mind and her soul.

Pepper - “Father, how did you know?”

Thoth – “Your negative vibrations sent shockwaves through the ether.” “And the pain that you’ve felt, I have felt shaking the very walls of Amenti.” “I have heard your cry, and I have captured a cup full of your tears.” “You are a direct descendent of Amun Rah. “The bloodline of royalty.” “Your great cosmic Nubian ancestors whale, moan and groan from your pain.” “Your mother, Asset requires that you fight the evil one Satan.”

“You were fashioned for greater good and not destroy.” “You were designed to take the uncomfortable experiences of your human experience and wear them as badges of honor that have been allowed into your life to mature and strengthen you.” “You are to be an example to those who face adversity, hardships and loss.”

“Your life is an example for others to know how to survive, thrive and then thrive and then capitalize on adversity.” “Your purpose in the earth is to lead them into their true purpose and their assignments, in this human existence, which is but a vapor.”

“You were sent to earth to lead and to teach the Nubians in the earth about their heritage and to help them to restore them with the mental skills that they lost during the middle passage and slavery, substance abuse, the enterprise of incarceration, and Covid -19.”

“You will be the leader of millions of other Nubians throughout the cosmoses into enlightenment.” “You will martial an army, (GUARD).” “To fight the enemy, beat him, chain him, and cast him into a pit.” “Then, he will never be able to hurt my children, the Nubians ever again.”

“Your technical advancements in the esoteric sciences weren’t a coincidence.” “We endowed you with the capacity to, for such a time as this.” “The time that the Nubian race will be restored to their place of spiritual enlightenment and become free from the psychological bonds that they have, due the cultural trauma that they’ve endured that have transcended into general curses.”

“All of the innate gifts and talents that you possess came from God, for the purpose of empowering the lost Nubian race.” “If you fail this test now, you will forfeit your place in your destiny.” “Which is the next step in your evolution.”

Pepper drops to her knees as Father Thoth speaks to her heart and to her mind. His words vibrate and penetrate her spirit with power and tenderness at the same time. Reminiscent of a parent correcting their child. With love, compassion, honesty, and frankness. She stays still, she doesn’t make a sound. The only motion that there is from her, are the tears that roll down from her eyes and onto her cheeks.

“We sent you to the earth to grow and to learn the principles of leadership and how to walk in a perpetual state of love.” “We sent you here to set an example and to create a standard for what a loving, intelligent Nubian mother of the universes looks like.” “You are challenged to inspire, without insulting.”

“My daughter, I know that the hardest thing to do, is to love and to forgive those, who have hurt you.” “This is your test.” “This is your assignment and the criteria for graduating, is that you take the high road, absorb the pain and yet not sin.”

“The choice is yours, daughter.” “I am here with the book that will record your destiny or your failure.” “To get to your next assignment, you must complete this one successfully.” “You must not fail.” “As it has always been, throughout all of antiquity, the fate of all rides on the strength, resiliency, physical strength and tenacity of the black woman.” “Your next decision will dictate what that will be.”

As Pepper begins to gather her thoughts, Thoth begins to leave. And as his Astro presence fades away into the cosmoses, Pepper comes to her senses. She realizes that she has been lied to. She knows that she’s been hoodwinked, and bamboozled. She is aware that she was simply a pawn in the Devil’s plot.

Pepper struggles with inner dialogue and inner chatter that is going on in her mind, through her thoughts. The negative polarity that would manifest themselves as thoughts would bombard her mind. Thoughts from a source that always forces themselves onto a person’s subconsciousness. The evil seductive spirits that push and prod at a soul until it becomes a host for their demands.

In Peppers case the demons that plagued her were the spirits of murder, rejection, and vengeance. Pepper had been tormented by the visions of her husband with the slave girl and their baby. The site of it, Angela’s bantering and the Devil’s plot had overwhelmed her with the desire to kill her husband and God. She was caught up in the Devil’s web of deception and depression had led Pepper down a path of entertaining the spirits of murder and hate.

Pepper hadn't been fighting with it all until now, until Father Thoth intervened. Now, she was trying to suppress the voices of the demons that were egging her on, and sometimes she'd talk out loud, to no one. Sometimes she'd grab her head and yell out at them. Sometimes she'd sit on the floor and cry aloud. Night after night, since Father Thoth came to her, she'd been preoccupied with the demons and in a constant battle with herself and the demons over it all.

Pepper recalled how she had read about a woman who'd been in captivity and was subjected to abuse, day in and day out. She remembered reading about a woman who used a technique that enabled her to be able to separate herself extensionally from what was happening to her in the moment, by separating her consciousness from her physical body.

Pepper learned to leverage these and other techniques to reject the demons that were disguised as emotions, that triggered hormones in her body that made her feel depressed and out of control. And as she got better at the practices the demons began to succumb to her discipline.

And then, the spirits of justice, love, diversity equity, inclusion, and liberty fell upon her. And she embraced all of them. Pepper's heart was suddenly filled with love, harmony, hope and forgiveness also. She was immersed in the moment of her new state of enlightenment, peace, joy, and self-awareness.

The very moment that Pepper allowed the right spirits to inhabit her, she experienced the feeling of the weights of the world being lifted from her. She could feel them leaving her; she could feel spirits of hatred, murder, rath and revenge, screaming and snarling as they left her. It was as close to the experience that people would profess after meeting Jesus for the first time, as their Lord and Savior.

The chains were broken, her burdens were lifted, and her mind was clear. She was spiritually aware. She was WOKE. She was self-aware. Pepper had just learned the most basic and fundamental spiritual law. The law of cause and effect. Pepper had come face to face with the evil spirits that she'd been hosting. And she had divorced herself from the mission of destroying Davis LeMay, God, and time at this point.

Pepper was free now. She was open to full blessings of being Alchemically connected to the ether and able to browse the many tiers of the halls of Amenti. She knew that operating and functioning in love, was life. She knew that to practice hate, racism, bigotry, murder, xenophobia, homophobia, anti-Semitism, and prejudice against extraterrestrials and Chinese persons was death of her soul and separation from all that is good.

12) The Militia

King's relentless onslaught on the cosmoses was wreaking havoc on them. And his cosmic bio-wave army was growing and expanding day by day. News about Dynasty's power was flowing throughout the ether. Galaxies were collapsing and being taken over by Dynasty as they succumb to their reign of terror, genocide, and destruction.

It seemed that there was no end in sight to combat the terrible, hostile takeover of the cosmoses by the Reptosapien Dynasty. All was lost for life, love, and liberty throughout the cosmoses. Dynasty had even conquered the darkness in space as its own. From every vapor to beam of light, to sound wave Dynasty was taking over. Evil prevailed and there was no help or change in sight.

The cosmos needed healing. The cosmos needed a leader. The cosmos needed Guardians against the Reptosapien Dynasty.

Pepper is compelled by Father Thoth and her mother Asset to do something about the terrible atrocities that were accruing across the cosmoses. She knows that she has been called upon to forgive and let her husband live, and now her spirit is telling her that she must organize a team to fight against the evil the Reptosapien Dynasty.

Pepper begins to contemplate what to do and how to proceed. She assumes the Lotus posture and begins to vibrate at the highest frequency that a human had ever used to transmute or to cure diseases. The highest frequency was reserved for deity only. For them to travel throughout dimensions or to change their appearances. Pepper now having been granted to the highest access to the frequency meant that she'd become fully enlightened and elevated to the status of a deity. Like her cousin Osiris, human /god.

As Peppers physical body began to repeat the cycles that changed the molecular structure of her physical matter into pure energy, she started her entrance into to portals of the Acacia fields. Pepper had only moments ago been leveraging the power of its information to devise a plan to kill her husband and God, now she was resolute to do the opposite.

She was able to browse the virtual catalogues of information like flipping the paper of an ancient paperback book. She was able to formalize a plan that correlated with the insights that she was receiving, with ease. The information and insights flowed through her neurons like the wind passing through Lilly's in a field. She processed every detail that she would need to formulate a strategy to fight against the Reptosapien Dynasty.

It was all crystal clear to her; she would assemble GUARD.
(Guardians United Against Reptosapien Dynasty).

Pepper understood her calling now and she was aware of the power that she'd been endowed with. She knew her calling and her election now. She was fully enlightened and WOKE. Pepper knew the source to get the help that she needed to pull it all off. It would start with Coffee.

She recalled the many tournaments and beat downs that Coffee had given opponent after opponent. The Acacia fields had given her the data points that she needed to be able to explain the cause to Coffee, and the necessity for her to lead the Wrestlefest team, into battle against the Reptosapien Dynasty. She realized that the Wrestlefest team was the only force that could handle the task of destroying Dynasty and detaining the Devil.

13) World War IX

The time had come to organize the battle group to take down Dynasty. Pepper telepathically pings coffee and gets her attention. As Coffee was dishing out some good old fashioned whoop ass, and a pimp slap, she downloads the details of the battle plan using her cerebral cortex like an antenna. Then, Coffee and Pepper further develop the strategy together, over the ether. Coffee felt honored to be enlisted to lead G.U.A.R.D, and she gave her commitment to Pepper give it her all.

Coffee had the allegiance of the members of the Wrestlefest team. They all had great admiration and loyalty to her. Coffee's exploits in battle during WWII were known throughout the dimensions. Coffee put together an offensive team consisting of her closest teammates. Fury, Hugo, Josephine Baker, Anu, Helga, and Hagar. Her defensive team was Tosh, Kim Fujikawa, Wildcatt, Quake, Buffalo Soldier, and Natalie.

The task was great, but G.U.A.R.D was on the side of good; they had God with them. And the Wrestlefest team had many others that could be gathered to fight for G.U.A.R.D at a moment's notice. So now the stage was set, and G.U.A.R.D would take the offensive against Dynasty, with a full-frontal multilateral attack. Coffee would lead the charge on King and the offensive team would take the high ground around the perimeter of the 7th dimension.

Fury had gathered intel that King was planning an assault on the 7th dimension to take it over and to make the inhabitants slaves of Dynasty. Coffee doesn't say a word as she streams through the cosmos and assails King from the back and landing a drop kick into the back of King's head. It was a punishing blow and a shot across the bow for Dynasty. The fight was on; the war for time had begun.

“For God's sake, we fight!” Coffee shouts, as the rest of her offensive team converges on dimension 7. They surround the entire dimension with their centurion. No Reptosapien can escape them and the Reptosapien's are cornered in the 7th dimension.

King recoils and lashes out at Coffee, with his 24-inch razor sharp fangs extended and heading towards Coffee. Coffee ducks in the nick of time as Kings' swipe at her, grazes her. Coffee assumes an ancient Kung Fu dragon pose and then leaps into a double back flip and lands onto the back of Kings neck. She simultaneously wraps her powerful cyborg legs around King's torso, grabs his wings and tightens the grip of her legs around him, choking him.

The fight between G.U.A.R.D and the Reptosapien's rages on for months, in ancient solar system years. King had spent several months preparing for the war of Armageddon. He'd fortified the army with any nomad that would take up the cause of the Dynasty. Their army was made of less fortunate and underserved entities and mortals that needed to belong and that needed a sense of identity. Dynasty provided a place for them to be more than they'd ever had.

The less educated and disillusioned found their home in Dynasty. Dynasty had propagated the big lie and sold the narrative that serving the devil would be in their best interest. They'd swallowed the Kool-Aid. They'd believed the propaganda and rhetoric that their ancestors, from Hitler to De Klerk to Trump had propagated for centuries. They'd all fallen for the same conspiracy's and lies that said that the root of their economic disparities and social ills, were the fault of brown people, (Le Nubians).

Dynasty had built their arsenal for centuries with loyalists that would trade sides for the right price. They were soldiers of circumstances, with no real cause. But the sheer numbers of solders and weaponry that Dynasty possessed were staggering and they dwarfed G.U.A.R.D S's. Dynasty soldier head count was more than 5 million solders and 50,000 AACIU'S.

Eventually, Dynasty begins to get the upper hand on G.U.A.R.D. And it is becoming apparent that the amount soldiers with Dynasty are overwhelming G.U.A.R.D. Coffee tactics and strategies on the battlefield are not enough to compete with the of manpower that Dynasty keeps throwing at them. NO matter how hard they fight, G.U.A.R.D is losing, and Dynasty is winning battle after battle.

Coffee realizes that to defeat Satan, and Dynasty that she will have to dig deeper into the cradle of ancient human civilization to achieve victory, ultimately. She recognizes that her ancient Moorish D.N.A. is inadequate to defeat Dynasty. She knows that she'll have to upgrade her modules with the D.N.A of the Kushites. The Moors of Spain's D.N.A. that courses through Coffee's bloodstream won't be enough to destroy an enemy that has been in existence as long it has.

Coffee is at a crossroad, as many of her mother ancestors have been. She heard the voices of Betty Shabazz, Coretta Scott King, and Madam C.J. Walker and Mother Ferris King say all at once, “you got this!” But Coffee knows that although the ancient D.N.A. of the Moors of Spain that flows through her blood is powerful, it isn’t enough to conquer this present darkness. Another growing concern for Coffee is the expense of fighting the war against the Dynasty.

The Devil, and his band of intergalactic terrorist were winning the war to take over time. It was time for Coffee to dig deep into the cradle of ancient Earth’s Nubian civilization and infuse Kushite D.N.A., for help. Coffee collaborates with Pepper Brown to broker a deal with Mansa Musa’s family, Marcus Garvey’s Family, and E.P. McCabe’s family, for additional capital to continue the offensive against Satan and the Reptosapien Dynasty.

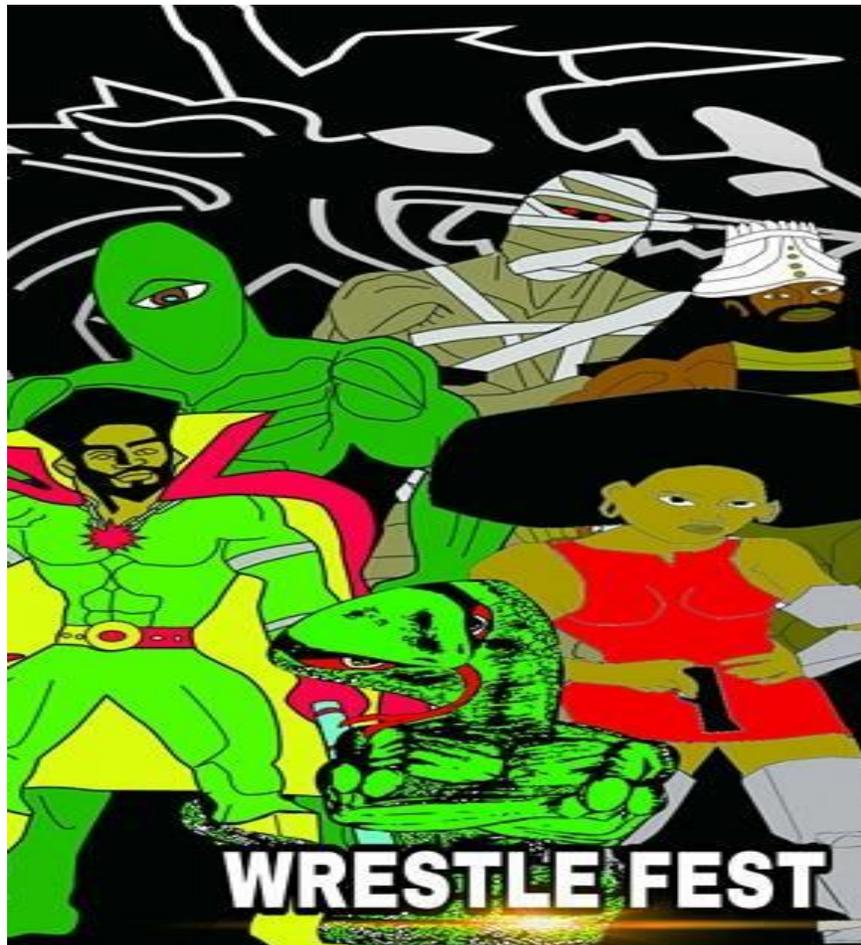

Mansa Musa’s family pledges 50 zillion dollars to shore up the campaign against the enemy and Coffee and Pepper initiate the ancient D.N.A. of Kush, to fortify their defenses and strengthen their offensive team.

It was the war to end all wars. It was the beginning of WWIX, and Coffee and the Wrestlefest team were losing the war. The Wrestlefest militia had been assembled to defeat the Reptosapien Dynasty, but they were being defeated themselves. Dynasty had propagated a modern day ‘Trail of tears. They needed help from their ancestors to win WWIX.

About the Author:

Having grown up in the great city of Chicago, LeMay spent a lot of time as a teenager on Michigan Avenue, the Magnificent Mile. The energy that LeMay drew from the environment as a young man, was very beneficial to him. LeMay spent many days at the Art Institute of Chicago and freelancing as a fashion illustrator. His work was greatly influenced by the great Stan Lee, (REX), Craig Perry and (WAK), Kevin Williams.

In those days, most summers LeMay spent his time working for various Art Galleries along Michigan Avenue, when he wasn't busy listening to Frankie Knuckles House music. It was great exposure for a kid from the South Side of Chicago. These experiences helped to shape his psyche and helped him to crystallize his perceptions about life and to develop a personal plan for his life.

The author LeMay has worked in the psychological sciences, technology and in multi-media arenas. Consequently, LeMay has developed an eye for fine art. And has also attained professional certifications in Enterprise Computer Systems Engineering and design. Which was culminated over 20 years, in while working in information technology. Where he flourished as an Enterprise Information Technology Engineer, and as Senior Citrix Design Engineer. In medical, financial and technology training and development sectors.

The author's interest and love for the arts was initially sparked by his grandmother and by his mother. And consequently, throughout his life he has always tried to find a way to balance his love for God, his family, and his work.

As a child, LeMay was frequently very ill with asthma. And as a tool to keep him preoccupied, his mother would give him pencils and paper to draw with, while he was in the oxygen tents in those days.

LeMay's mother introduced him to fine arts by bringing various art centered literature into their home. Which introduced him to authors and artists like Raphael, Michelangelo, Da Vinci, Gordon Parks, James Baldwin, Langston Hughes, and W. E. B. Dubois.

Later, while serving in the United States Navy, LeMay was able to explore photography and became trained as a Naval photographer. Upon completing his enlistment and being honorably discharged from the U.S. Navy, LeMay began to focus on flourishing in the arts, while studying and working as a freelance wedding photographer.

LeMay's second divorce presented him with a unique opportunity. And that was to refocus on his love for the arts and to find a measure of healing and therapy for himself through his media and writing. Which lead to the writing and self-publishing of his first novel, 'The Work Around'. (A blueprint for men to avoid divorce).

The author's vision for the publishing of, 'The Work Around and subsequent media, is that the media will be beneficial to readers who may find themselves in a traumatic and life impacting situations, and how to respond adversity, accordingly. Such as the main character, Mitch May in the novels of the Impossible Trilogy, does.

LeMay has further developed and cultivated his mind and consecrated his spirit through the study of psychology, writing and independent publishing. As a result, LeMay has developed a multimedia conglomerate that is focused on disseminating provocative and thought-provoking content on the subject of, Avoiding Divorce. For Black Men. In the forms of print, electronic and auditory media.

LeMay hopes to be used a vessel to help to restore families and to prevent them from suffering the trauma of divorce. LeMay hopes to render quality content that is substantive and transformational. And that also offers a measure of healing and advice to those who may find themselves in precarious and challenging situations in life. Such as but not limited to divorce, the loss of income, incarceration, illness, the loss of a loved one, etc.

Wrestle Fest Armageddon, marks the return of LeMay's return to abstract writing and Art. Which has been long awaited and arrested development.
